DIVER ARRIVES IN NEW LONDON HARBOR

Deutschland Appears in Outer Harbor Shortly
After Midnight

Captain Koenig States trip was Made Without Special Incident

HAS CARGO OF CHEMICALS

NEW LONDON, Nov. 1.—The German submarine Deutschland arrived in the harbor here early this morning. Captain Koenig, commanding the submarine said the Deutschland left Bremen on October 10th, and made the trip here without special incident. The entire crew comprises 25 men. The Deutschland appeared in the outer harbor shortly after midnight and proceeded to the dock of the Eastern Forwarding company. Captain F. Hirsch of the forwarding company, accompanied by Dr. R. E. Black, the health officer, and other officials, met the submarine on a tug. The usual quarantine regulations were waived and the Deutschland tied up at the dock near the North German Lloyd Steamer Wilhelm.

The Deutschland was said to have a large cargo of chemicals. The Deutschland first attracted world-wide attention when at almost the same hour in the morning of July 9th, she slipped in thru the Virginia Capes to Baltimore.

Captain Koenig, who brought the vessel into New London today was also her commander on her maiden voyage. The vessel reached her dock at Baltimore the night after she passed thru the capes. She carried a valuable cargo of chemicals, which constituted a record voyage for a craft of the kind, approximately four thousand miles in sixteen days.

The subra trader started on her return trip August 1, with a cargo of rubber and nickel, dodged thru a cordon of hostile warships watching for her outside the three mile limit and arrived safely off Bremen after a voyage of twenty-three days.

The submarine, under her own power, slid into a "pocket" that had been prepared for her at the wharf at 2:35 o'clock. The craft's entry into the harbor was so silent that only a few persons were aware that she was there. Captain Koenig said that the boat originally was supposed to leave on October 1, but she was injured in a collision and put back to port, delaying her sailing ten days. The clearance papers were made out for "Baltimore or any Atlantic port."

Until the last three days extremely rough water was encountered, Captain Koenig said.

URGES EXTENSION OF CONSULAR SERVICE

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—A stronger navy and the extension of the system of consular service abroad were urged on congress in a resolution adopted today by the American Manufacturers' Export association in convention here.

"Patriotic American manufacturers," were urged to co-operate in upbuilding the navy, "by giving the government the first call on the personnel of their staffs and the material resources of the nation."

The nation's prosperity and its foreign trade progress "depend largely upon uninterrupted course of our foreign commerce and its protection and preservation," it was asserted.

M. Herr, president of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company was re-elected president.

DANVILLE HAS PUBLIC HALLOWE'EN OBSERVANCE

DANVILLE, Ill., Oct. 31.—Danville's fifth public Halloween celebration eclipsed all previous events in the number and excellence of costumes worn in big street pageant in which fourteen bands took part.

An open air dance on two blocks of smooth pavement roped off for the event was a new feature in which over 500 couples participated.

An unannounced event was the burning of a small fireworks factory which caused the explosion of some heavy bombs which were to have announced the opening of the festival.

HANLY ATTACKS HUGHES STATEMENT

Baltimore, Oct. 31.—J. Frank Hanly, the Prohibition presidential aspirant tonight attacked Charles E. Hughes' declaration that "a chance to work is the foundation of American life" as falling short of the mark. Hanly insisted that a chance was of little value if the man was

WILSON STARTS ON LAST CAMPAIGN TRIP

President Will Deliver Two Speeches
in Buffalo and Three in New York City.

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 31.—President Wilson left here tonight for Buffalo on his last trip of the campaign. Before he returns Friday he will have delivered two speeches in Buffalo and three in New York City, besides shaking hands with station crowds at nearly a score of New York cities and towns.

In his speeches on his present trip, the president will not deal with purely partisan questions, but after his return he will speak here Saturday on political issues.

After making brief stops at towns and cities along his route tomorrow morning the president will arrive in Buffalo at 1 o'clock p. m. He will speak there at a luncheon, and at an evening meeting and will leave for New York tomorrow night. In New York he will speak at a luncheon at a meeting at Madison Square garden and later at another meeting at Cooper Union. He will make the return trip from New York on the naval yacht Mayflower, arriving here Friday morning.

WILL OPEN BIDS FOR NEW WARSHIPS TODAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Bids will be opened at the navy department tomorrow for four scout cruisers and twenty-seven coast type submarines, leaving only proposals for four battle cruisers to be received before construction of all the 1917 building program can begin. Figures for four battleships and twenty destroyers are now under consideration at the department and awards probably will be made next week.

The scout cruisers are a new type for the navy, designed to make a sustained speed of 35 knots. Each will be equipped with a device for launching aeroplanes at sea and carry aircraft to extend its zone of daylight operations. The vessels will be large enough to cover long distances in search of an enemy and will depend upon their speed for defense against any ship more heavily armed than destroyers.

OPERATORS PREDICT HIGH COAL PRICES

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 31.—Coal operators tonight predicted that the retail price of bituminous coal would reach $10 per ton in Ohio soon if the present demand and the shortage in coal cars in the state continue.

Soft coal sold at $5 per ton at the mines today, the highest price since 1903, during the anthracite strike, when the price was $3. Jobbers were selling at from $6 to $7.50 per ton as a result. For the first time in mining history slack is being sold in the mine run class at $5 per ton.

PREDICTS REPUBLICAN MAJORITY IN HOUSE

"I am confident of the soundness of my information," Representative Woods said, "and therefore say that there is a practical certainty of the election of Mr. Hughes and a Republican house and better than a fifty-fifty prospect of Republican control

REQUESTS GERMANY TO FURNISH INFORMATION

U. S. Seeks Facts Concerning Sinking of British Steamers

Desires to Assemble Complete Information Regarding the Marina On Which Several American Horse Tenders Apparently Lost Their Lives.

DUBLIN, Oct. 31.—Via London, Nov. 1.—The British steamer Marina was torpedoed without warning, according to a statement made by American survivors of the vessel, who arrived here tonight.

The survivors, in a statement to the Associated Press, declared that two torpedoes were fired at the Marina and that the submarine watched the boats containing the survivors for half an hour without offering assistance.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Germany has been asked to furnish the United States any information the imperial government may have concerning the sinking by submarines of the British steamers Marina and Rowanmore. The request was forwarded, it became known tonight, thru the American embassy at Berlin.

It is understood the state department took this step without waiting for full reports from British sources and survivors of the ships because it was considered desirable to assemble at the earliest possible moment complete information particularly regarding the Marina, on which several American horse tenders apparently lost their lives.

The request is informal and is intended in no sense as an intimation that German submarines have violated international law or the pledges of the German government to the United States. While the Marina is the first vessel on which American lives have been lost in the war zone since the Sussex and all reports so far have said she was attacked without warning, there was no evident tension over the case today in government circles. Officials continued to be optimistic, apparently in the belief that final accounts would show that the steamer lost her immunity as a merchantman by flight or by attempting a counter-attack. As to the Rowanmore, which admittedly sought desperately to escape, there seemed to be but one point to clear up—whether the submarine actually fired upon boats leaving the ship, as alleged by survivors.

Virtually no information about either case was given out by the state department during the day. Secretary Lansing, who is handling the situation personally, declined today to say anything, further than that his information was not complete. That some reports had come from London during the day and that affidavits of survivors would be cabled to the department as fast as they could be taken.

So far as could be learned the department has not been able to clear up the discrepancy between Consul Frost's "provisional" report yesterday that the Marina had been sunk without warning by gunfire and today's unofficial advice from England quoting the consul and others as saying the ship was torpedoed.

It may be a week or more before the German reply is received, as the submarine or submarines which made the attacks probably would not return to their bases and report until several days. Unless there is an unreasonable delay at Berlin, no serious action will be taken here pending the reply, even the complete information from other sources should make it evident that there must be action.

Discussion of the Marina and the Rowanmore cases today developed the fact that the state department never has learned what punishment was imposed by Germany upon the submarine commander who sank the Sussex, altho Ambassador Gerard was instructed some time ago to make inquiries on the subject. A department official said this was one of the subjects that would be taken up with the ambassador when he called before starting on the return trip to Berlin after his vacation.

Directs All Possible Haste.

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 31.—After receiving unofficial information that six Americans had lost their lives by the sinking of the British steamship Marina, President Wilson communicated with Secretary of State Lansing tonight and directed that all possible haste be taken in obtaining the facts concerning the sinking of the vessel.

Secretary Lansing informed the president that in addition to asking the American embassy in London for information informal inquiries had been sent to the German government.

While it was made clear here that no action would be taken pending the collection of all the facts, it was indicated that the view was taken that the situation contained grave possibilities.

Secretary Lansing stated that he was not in possession of sufficient facts on which to base a judgment of the case. While preliminary reports have indicated that the Marina was sunk without warning, additional information on that point is desired.

When President Wilson left here tonight he gave directions that he be kept thoroughly in touch with the situation.

REVISION CONTAINS SOME RADICAL CHANGES

A. A. U. Makes Efforts to Incorporate Suggestions Advanced for Elevating Amateurism.

New York, Oct. 31.—The revised constitution and by-laws of the Amateur Athletic Union to be voted on at the annual meeting here Nov. 20, contain a number of radical changes, advance copies distributed today show. Efforts have been made to incorporate the suggestions advanced for the elevating of amateurism at the conference conducted by the intercollegiate association of amateur athletes last winter.

The principal changes reported by the committee on revision include one requiring that delegates to the annual meeting of the national body be amateurs; the definition of an amateur and the provisions for reinstatement and pardoning power; additional protection of the reports of college students to represent educational institutions in case where the college terms close prior to June and in cases where college attendance is not required in consecutive semesters. It is also recommended that the clause in the present constitution permitting of the registration of women for swimming events be stricken out.

The definition of an amateur sportsman under the revised rules will be one who engages in sport solely for the pleasure and physical or mental or social benefits he derives therefrom and to whom sport is nothing more than an avocation.

Several acts which will render a person ineligible to compete as an amateur are mentioned, among them being:

Competing under an assumed name or for financial benefit, coaching for money or capitalization of athletic fame or ability in advertising or selling sporting goods or prizes; competing against or with ineligible persons in public contests.

The board of governors, however, if the new measures are adopted shall be invested with pardoning power.

SEEK ARREST OF CHURCH TRUSTEES

VANDALIA, Ill., Oct. 31.—Rev. P. B. Neuman, an evangelist of the United Brethren church, came here today with several members of the church at Mount Carmel, near here, to procure warrants for the arrest of several trustees of the church. According to the story told by friends of the minister, he was sent by the conference heads to Mount Carmel to hold a revival. In a sermon on Monday night he was said to have reflected on several of the church officials and they were reported to have attacked him in the pulpit and beat him severely.

After the fracas, it was said, Neuman wiped the blood from his face, sang a song and continued his sermon.

TELLS OF GROWTH OF BANKING RESOURCES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Growth of the country's banking resources since passage of the federal reserve act is put at six and one half billion dollars in a statement by the comptroller of the treasury today. The record is declared without a parallel in the history of this or any other country.

The figures cover the period from July 1913, a few months before the act was passed to July 1916, including nearly all of the first two years of the European war.

"This stupendous increase in banking assets and available capital," says the statement, "has been accompanied by an unprecedented quickening which has amounted in many cases to an outburst of business activity in every state and in every part of every state. Coincidentally there has been a marked reduction in interest charges."

POST-SEASON GAME MAY BE NECESSARY

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 31.—A post-season game may be necessary to decide the football championship of the "Little Nineteen."

Four teams are left in the race and there is every indication the season will close with two teams undefeated. Of the four leaders Millikin plays Illinois College in Decatur November 11th. A week later Eureka and St. Viators will clash at Kankakee. It may be necessary to arrange a battle for the winners of those two struggles for the Saturday following Thanksgiving.

Little Nineteen games of interest this week are the Illinois college vs Illinois Wesleyan at Bloomington; Shurtleff vs Millikin at Decatur and Bradley vs Illinois Normal at Normal.

RUSSIA TO ISSUE BLACKLIST

Petrograd, Oct. 31.—Via London.—A blacklist similar to that of Great Britain and containing the names of foreign firms on the British list, is soon to be issued, it was announced today.

HUGHES FINISHES FIRST DAY OF INDIANA TOUR

Tells of Policies He Intends to Follow If Elected

Nominee Would Begin by Selecting the Ablest Cabinet the Country Could Afford—Believes in Leadership of the Executive.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 31.—Charles Evans Hughes tonight told an audience in the school stadium here of the policies he intended to follow if elected president. Mr. Hughes declared that to begin he would select the ablest cabinet the country could afford, would protect American rights, would endeavor to safeguard American enterprise thru a protective tariff and would give the United States a straight business government, impartial, fair, efficient.

The nominee declared that he believed in the leadership of the executive, in shaping legislation and thought it his duty so far as he can by his recommendation and his powerful influence to promote the passage of beneficent laws.

After saying he would select an able cabinet, he referred to a "little word of pleasant" from the "spokesman of the opposing party" saying in effect that members of the Republican cabinets could not be called to mind.

"I want to say in answer to that suggestion," Mr. Hughes declared, "that the cabinet of this administration never will be forgotten."

Mr. Hughes was delayed in starting his speech by a torchlight parade that was 45 minutes in passing. The nominee rode to the stadium between cheering crowds that stood many deep in the streets, block after block. During his address he was frequently halted by cheering.

The meeting was in the open air and the nominee did not speak long for his voice was frayed by the day's exertions. Unknown to him another audience was waiting in a nearby hall, due to an eleventh hour slip in arrangements. Mr. Hughes did not address the second audience some of whom had waited several hours.

Mr. Hughes' speech here tonight marked the end of his first day's campaign of his two days' tour of the state. It was a day of crowds and noisy welcomes.

"Going thru the state of Indiana," he told the audience here tonight, "I have met the most hearty greeting. To me it is a prophecy and an assurance that we are going steadily forward to victory on the seventh of November."

"We cannot say just how we will find things next March, but we can state the principles by which we shall be guided," he said. "If I am elected president, as I expect to be, I shall be guided by the principles of business administration in our great departments of government."

"If we are to have progress in this country we must learn to conduct the nation's business, not for the purpose of partisan expediency, but for the purpose of giving the people of the United States straight business government impartial, fair, efficient, for the purpose of building up all the activities of American life that are needing supervision of these agencies of government. This is what I propose to do."

"We are living in a time which is full of opportunity for the American people and also full of grave dangers. It is no time to be contented with praisemaking without reference to the power of the statutes that are enacted to accomplish the purposes for which they are designed. We must have in this land more thoroughgoing, more true and explicit legislation if we are to accomplish the purposes which we have in view."

"The executive is the guardian of the nation's honor. He is entrusted with our diplomatic instrumentalities. He is the man who represents the country in all its dealing with foreign nations. It is today of the utmost importance that we have a proper expression of the rights of American citizens and the dignity of American citizenship and I desire and if I am elected I propose so far as in me lies, to see that the rights of American citizens with respect to life, property and commerce are safeguarded throughout the world."

"This is not a policy that leads to war. What a travesty it is to say that a policy that forfeits self-respect, or does not represent America with the courage and indomitable spirit that our country has, is a policy which will not be to our lasting peace and security."

"I do not want to be president of a decadent people. The American people are not decadent. They have the same spirit which won and preserved our liberties. All that is

TOTAL EARNINGS SET NEW HIGH RECORD

U. S. Steel Corporation Earns $85,817,067 for Third Quarter of the Calendar Year.

New York, Oct. 31.—Total earnings of the United States steel corporation for the third quarter of the calendar year, issued today, established a new high record at $85,817,067, exceeding the previous best statement the preceding quarters by $4,691,019.

Net income of $75,202,408 surpassed the previous record by $3,822,186 and the balance of surplus for the quarter, amounting to $51,559,450 represents an increase of $3,894,915.

Theft dividend of one percent on the common stock inaugurated at the last quarter was again declared with the usual regular dividends of 1 3-4 and 1 1-4 percent on the preferred and common, respectively.

While considerably below the most extravagant estimates made recently, the quarter earnings show a steady monthly gain. For the first nine months earnings available for the common dividend equal almost 32 percent as compared with 4.13 percent in the corresponding period of 1915.

In trade circles it is predicted that earnings for the current quarter will again exceed all records possibly aggregating $100,000,000.

MESSANGER BOYS GO ON STRIKE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Several hundred messenger boys employed at the telephone companies here went on strike today for what they described as "better working conditions" including shorter hours and higher pay. Messenger service in some parts of the city was crippled. Organizers of the messenger boys union declared tonight that by tomorrow every boy in both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph company employ would be on strike. The companies predicted the messengers soon would return to work.

URGE AUDIENCE TO VOTE FOR WILSON

Chicago, Oct. 31.—John M. Parker of Louisiana, Progressive nominee for vice president, Francis J. Henney, Mrs. Angeline Funk of Illinois and others who four years ago fought for Roosevelt's candidacy, tonight urged the audience at a mass meeting here to vote for Wilson. They were cheered when they referred to the Democratic party as one of proved progressiveness.

necessary is to give a true expression to the spirit of American life and that expression will conserve America's peace because it will present us to the world as a nation devoted to justice, asking nothing but that to which we are entitled, yet firm in our self-respect, alert, conscious of our dignity, able and disposed to protect the rights of our citizens."

LODGE AGAIN REFERS TO ALLEGED POSTSCRIPT

Senator Speaks At North Adams, Mass., Political Meeting

Asserts Statement Regarding Postscript was Made by Mr. Breckinridge According to the Evidence of Two Independent Witnesses.

North Adams, Mass., Oct. 31.—The alleged weakening postscript to the Lusitania note to Germany regarding "strict accountability" was again referred to by Senator Lodge at a political meeting here tonight. "The president of the United States has denied that there was any postscript to the Lusitania note and we all bound of course, to accept the president's denial just as he makes it," said Senator Lodge.

"I need hardly say," he added, "that I would not willingly bring an unfounded charge against anyone high and low and if I was misled into doing so I should be quick to retract it. The president makes one mistake. The statement which he characterizes as untrue, that there was such a postscript, was not mine, but was made by Mr. Breckinridge, a former assistant secretary of war according to the evidence of two independent witnesses, both gentlemen of high character and veracity and Mr. Breckinridge was in a position to know, if as he is reported to have said, he had seen the postscript. Bearing in mind the public and hitherto uncontroverted fact that Mr. Bryan had informed the Austro-Hungarian ambassador that strict accountability note of May 15th, meant nothing, which fact was at once cabled to the ambassador to Berlin, it seemed to me that Mr. Breckinridge's statement as testified to by two independent witnesses ought properly to be laid before the public."

The president it will also be observed says that the clause proposing arbitration "was suggested" and that after consideration he rejected it. This suggestion rejected by the president covered the proposition said by Mr. Breckinridge to have been embodied in the postscript, and may have been what Mr. Breckinridge had in mind when talking to Dr. Bailey and Mr. Jeffries about the postscript which was rejected without having been referred to the cabinet, and it may also have been therefor Mr. Bryan's statement to the Austro-Hungarian ambassador that the note meant nothing.

"I would also call your attention to a statement by Mr. Charles Warren, a Republican presidential elector of New Jersey, who states that he was told by a member of President Wilson's official family that the proposition to arbitrate the loss of life on the Lusitania was to be embodied in a note to Ambassador Gerard and was not to be a postscript to the strict accountability note."

"As I have previously pointed out the suggestion for a proposition of a resolution to accompany the strict accountability note whether as a postscript or as a separate note and the methods of its consideration and rejection are only of interest as throwing light on the manner in which our foreign questions have been dealt with by this administration. This question of the arbitration proposition does not in the least alter the essential fact that the strict accountability note meant nothing, as Mr. Bryan declared to the Austro-Hungarian ambassador and as events since that time have painfully demonstrated."

REPORTS MEXICANS EXECUTED AMERICAN

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 31.—Jose Diaz was to be a naturalized American citizen, was executed at Parrel on October 3rd, at the order of General Luis Herrera, Carranza commandant, according to a statement today of Mrs. Margarita Diaz, his wife.

District court records here show that a Mexican named Jose Diaz received final citizenship papers in 1912.

A writer in Collier's says that President Wilson has stuck so many white feathers into the American eagle that it is hard to tell the bird from a gander.

The advice can not be given too frequently to vote early next Tuesday. The voting booths are all being put into condition and in a number of instances enlarged because of the extra demand there will be for space. In a number of precincts in Jacksonville the registration shows between 1,300 and 1,400 votes. This means that nearly three votes a minute must be recorded during the day if all persons registered seek to cast their ballots. Sometimes the advice to vote early is not especially important, but that doesn't apply this year.

If Fred B. Henderson is chosen circuit clerk at the coming election the county will have an official thoroughly honest and competent. Mr. Henderson's training has made him famillar not only with bookkeeping methods, but with the affairs of the county. He knows about court procedure and has a knowledge of the recording department. Those who know him best appreciate the fact that he is especially obliging and affable and as circuit clerk the people would find in him an official always ready to accommodate.

Past Gives Promise For Future.
Carl E. Robinson's record as a laborer, student, teacher and lawyer all give the definite assurance that he would meet the requirements of the office of state's attorney in an efficient and capable manner. He has knowledge of the law, he has respect for the law and very definite ideals of the duties and obligations of public officials. The people with perfect confidence in his integrity and ability can vote for him for state's attorney next Tuesday. A vigorous enforcement of the statutes and an earnest interest in the welfare of the public will certainly characterize his incumbency of the office if he is honored as choice of the voters.

The high cost of living has touched officials and clerical assistants in American consular offices in a very personal way. In the past the salaries have been considered as quite liberal and fully equal to the demands, but living expenses have increased at such a rapid rate because of the war that the state department is in almost daily receipt of requests for more pay. Congress authorized $150,000 for war relief of this kind but this sum has already been expended and the 150,000 Americans employed in consular offices will have to be provided for in some other way. That there is justice in their demands is very evident even to the people at home who are quite familiar with comparative living costs now and a few years ago.

Protection Refused.
"We must bear the words as to our duties to the world. We are told that we have now to serve the world, that we have the best genius in the world, but 'we have never thought of using that genius outside of our own markets.' It is said that we have provided machinery for branch banks abroad. But what avails such words when we do not protect American lives and American property abroad? The adequate protection of American citizens and their interests abroad according to their rights under international law is the cornerstone of a policy to promote American enterprise throughout the world. This protection has been deliberately and deplorably refused by this Administration."—Charles E. Hughes.

Advocates of parole and other methods and humane methods of dealing with crime get a severe jolt every little while. One was given this week in the case of an eighteen year old boy who was arrested for the killing of his companion. Both were highwaymen belonging to a reckless band of young criminals and one of them shot the other accidentally in a street holdup. In the confession of the young fellow who did the shooting, facts are brought out to show that crooks and criminals nowadays make full use of the knowledge that parole is comparatively easy, especially if the offender is young.

They have the matter down to such an exact science that this particular band of evil doers had this code of action. "Get a job and work every day so as to have an alibi and remove suspicion. Then do the robbery at night. If arrested have mother or sister go before the judge to cry and plead."

To Protect the People.

Voters—men and women—when you go to the polls next Tuesday remember that many lives, among them perhaps your own, depend on your action on the question of building a tuberculosis sanatorium in this county. Hundreds of our neighbors are now in dire need of proper care in a tuberculosis hospital. Every one of them have tuberculosis or consumption because they "got" it from some one else. They are thoughtlessly and needlessly giving the disease to others.

A tuberculosis sanatorium will prolong the lives of many of these living victims of this dread disease. It will actually save the lives of many others. It will protect you and the members of your family from infection. The cost to each of us will be small—ridiculously small compared with the benefit each of us will derive from the sanatorium. The tax will be three mills or less—and it probably will be less.

Place your "X" in the small square that precedes this sentence: "For the Levy of a Tax for a County Tuberculosis Sanatorium."

CAUSE OF HIGH COAL PRICES.

Even the high coal prices they say are indirectly caused by the war. This is the way the operators explain their relationship. Illinois mines are now able only to operate two or three days a week on account of the car shortage and investigation shows that instead of having their own complete equipment for handling the coal business the railroads now have these cars hauling munitions for shipment to Europe, most of these cars being in use in the eastern states.

The Illinois Central owns 52,000 coal cars and 27,000 or more than half are now on other lines and not available for the mines on the Illinois Central. If you watch the Burlington coal trains pass thru the city you will be impressed with the number of foreign cars in use, and as railroads are handling their business today when a car once leaves the lines and is in the possession of some other road it is almost impossible to get it back. The car shortage situation is acute and thus the war is indirectly responsible partially for high coal prices; but another reason is that the operators are making big profit on the coal that they do sell.

With normal weather conditions there may be some relief in four or six weeks' time, but cold weather would send the prices still further skyward. Some mines are now asking $3 a ton for coal at the mine, which is fully 75 percent above the price last year.

Mr. Tanner's Work.

Guided by a sincerity of purpose which no one can question and a genuine love of mankind, Rev. Allen A. Tanner has resigned the pastorate of a prosperous church in Denver to again become an actual member of the laboring class. The minister has undertaken a great and difficult task for it must be acknowledged that the number of those who scoff at the church because of its alleged lack of sympathy for, or understanding of, industrial conditions is increasing. The principles of true religion are embodied in the church and it must be a failure to apply the principles properly that creates the feeling among some laboring men that the church is more interested in capital than in labor.

So Mr. Tanner's problem is to try to bring the church into a better understanding of labor conditions and to bring the laboring classes into a more accurate knowledge of what the church intends and seeks. Thus the field he is entering is wide and long. The need is there and the hope will go with Mr. Tanner that thru successful leadership, based on actual experience, he may be able to point the way to better and clearer relationships.

"HE KEPT US OUT OF WAR"

In forceful language Medill McCormick has told how other nations have kept peace with Europe in much more difficult situations than those which have confronted the United States, have kept at peace and added to their prestige. If there is any credit due to President Wilson for "keeping us out of war" that credit becomes insignificant when we consider Denmark, Sweden, Holland, Switzerland.

"The administration has not kept us from war with any of the great powers in Europe. Which of them, in the agonies of a death struggle has sought war with us, at a time when the weight of 100,000,000 Americans thrown into the scale of war would decide the issue?"

"With which of them have we sought war? If there were any credit due the head of this administration, how trivial would it be beside that due the statesmen who preside over the destinies of Denmark and Sweden, whose shores are washed by the waters where fight the hostile fleets.

"How great the statesman, who, unheralded, presides over the destinies of little Holland, ringed by the conflict, keeping the peace, keeping her self respect and the respect of Europe. How great the unknown genius, who, in his obscure cabinet, prescribes over the destinies of the little Swiss republic—beleagured by belligerents on every border, whose armies bleed upon her very frontiers.

"Prosperity and Peace—Peace, which we enjoy in spite of the ineptitude and the indecision in the conduct of our foreign affairs, which have brought us to the very brink of war, from which we have been saved not by Mr. Wilson, but by the death grapple in which the people of Europe hold one another. Peace and Prosperity—Prosperity, bought with the tears and blood of Europe, whose agony marked the resurrection of our prostrate industry and the end of whose sufferings will mark the return of our depression, unless we protect our own markets. "Have we forgotten the months which followed the enactment of a Democratic tariff, and which preceded the war, when empty freight cars filled the sidings of the railways; when spindles were still; when furnaces were cold; when chimneys were dark, when, thru the streets of the great cities, tramped the army of willing, idle workers—idle, thru no fault of their own, seeking work, begging alms even to keep soul and body together, to keep breath in the bodies of their children?"

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

WINTER'S COMING.

It is a pleasant thing to know that Winter comes a flying, and we shall have the luscious snow for which we have been sighing. Some people shudder when they speak of this delightful season; they hate to hear the blizzards shriek, and mark the brooklets freezing. But I am glad to see the sleet, I keep my harpstrings thrumming, and clap my hands and wave my feet, for wintertime is coming. 'Tis then we sit around the fire, the whole blamed bunch together, and tell old tales and punch the lyre, and laugh at stormy weather. We're closer drawn in kinship then, than warm days ever find us, the children and the whiskered men, and granny perched behind us. Home life is truer when the storm howls round the roof and basement, when our old sitting room is warm, though frost is on the easement. So light the lamp and bar the door, and keep the fireplace humming; all other seasons are a bore, and wintertime is coming.

VIRGINIA CLOSES ALL SALOONS AT MIDNIGHTEighteenth State to Ban Sale of Intoxicating Beverages.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 31.—Virginia, the eighteenth state to ban the sale of intoxicating beverages, closed all saloons at midnight tonight, completing a dry area in the South reaching from Washington to Jacksonville, to the East and from Washington to New Orleans to the west. Altho a large part of the old dominion previously had been voted dry in local option elections, the new state law closed more than 800 saloons, mostly in Richmond, Norfolk, Newport News, Lynchburg, Petersburg, Danoke and Bristol. The law is one of the most drastic ever passed by a state legislature. No beverages except cider can be sold that shows a trace of alcohol, and possession of more than one gallon of whiskey, one gallon of wine, or three gallons of beer would be regarded as prima facie evidence of intent to violate the law.

Virginia Trops Wear Mourning.

Brownsville, Texas, Oct. 31.—Bemoaning the fact, it was said, that Virginia will become a "dry" state at midnight tonight, a regiment of Virginia infantry marched thru the streets here tonight each man wearing crepe on one arm, and several men bearing other emblems of mourning.

FAMOUS MIDGET IS SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS OLD
Middleboro, Mass., Oct. 31.—Countess Magri, better known by her former name of Mrs. General Tom Thumb, today celebrated her seventy-fifth birthday at her home near here. Hundreds of friends and admirers throughout the country remembered the anniversary by sending messages of greeting to the famous midget.

Countess Magri was born close by the spot where her present home stands. She was Lavinia Warren, eighth in descent from Richard Warren of the Mayflower "signers," and was born a midget. So was her sister, the celebrated Minnie Warren, but three brothers were of the usual stature. Countess Magri has been in "public life," which is to say show life, ever since she was a mere child. She married General Tom Thumb at an early age and together traveled over the world. For many years they were under the management of P. T. Barnum and were among the best known attractions of that veteran showman.

DAY TO AID LITHUANIANS.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—President Wilson has named tomorrow as a day for the people of this country to extend expressions of sympathy in the form of contributions for the people of Lithuania, who have been made destitute by the war. Several months ago resolutions were drawn in which the attention of the president was called to the fact that there are more than 4,000,000 Lithuanians in the warring countries of Europe, and that the majority of them are starving and homeless. In nearly all the large cities of the United States committees appointed for the purpose have arranged for an appropriate observance of the Lithuanian relief day.

GENERAL STRIKE
IN PROSPECT TODAY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 31.—Prospects of a general strike tomorrow in the Oklahoma coal fields was regarded with apprehension here tonight in view of the reported scarcity of fuel in other parts of the country. Much of the coal used in the southwest comes from the mines in Oklahoma, several of which already have been shutdown and more than 98 per cent of which are affected by the strike order, recently issued because of an unsettled dispute between operators and union miners over the biennial wage contract. The strike order was made effective November 1.

Only a limited supply of coal was reported tonight to be available in any of the larger cities of this section. Prices so far, according to retail dealers have made no substantial advance, but increases were predicted soon.

"TWIN BEDS" AT THE

"Twin Beds," the liveliest comedy of the stage and the success of three continents, will come into the Grand tonight for an evening of such hilarious comedy that peace and quiet will be put out of the question by two and a half hours of laughter. "Twin Beds" may well be termed the international success, for it ran not only for one solid year in New York but has already reached its second year in London. "Twin Beds" is said to be the funniest play ever written.

It is easy to understand that "Twin Beds" exists merely to cause laughter. It never fails to do that, and those who have enjoyed its sparkling humor are its best advertisers.

The Instrument
You Were Born to Play

HERE IS an instrument that requires only a natural love of music—
the mere inborn desire for musical expression common to all—to respond to you as the piano responds to a talented artist.

The

Manualo

The Player-Piano that is all but human is played beautifully by anybody who loves music because its expression is controlled from the pedals. Each pedal stroke does not merely make certain notes strike but it makes them sound with the exact volume and accent which your musical feeling desires. The force and style of the stroke are transmitted from the pedals to the piano strings as the striking of the artist's fingers is transmitted from the keys to the strings. It is as if the performer were in direct contact with the piano action, so sensitive is the Manualo mechanism to his subtlest wish.

Come in, try this remarkable instrument and

"PASTOR" RUSSELL DIES ON TRAIN IN TEXAS

Body Is Sent To Kansas City, Mo., On Train On Which Minister Died.

Canadian, Texas, Oct. 31.—Charles Taze Russell, known as "Pastor" Russell, an independent minister, editor of The Watch Tower and prominent author of studies on the scriptures, died at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon on an Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe train en route from Los Angeles to New York. Heart disease was given as the cause.

Pastor Russell complained of feeling ill soon after leaving Los Angeles, his secretary, M. Sturgeon said, and gradually grew worse, dying while the train was stopped at Pampa, Texas, near here. The body was sent to Kansas City, Mo., on the train on which the minister died. Pastor Russell was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 16, 1852. He was president of The Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, the International Bible Students' association of London and the Peoples' Pulpit association of New York.

COAL PRICES SOAR IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Coincident with the unprecedented increase in the price of domestic coal to $12.50 a ton here today, retail merchants notified the public that only conservation of the supply and limitation of deliveries to one-ton a customer would avert a famine.

The soaring prices are due, retailers and wholesalers agreed, to the enormous demands of manufacturing plants, to shortage of unskilled labor at the mines, the freight car shortage, the premature consumption of the reserve stock and the utilization of domestic coal for manufacturing purposes.

Experts denied speculators were cornering the market. Prices will continue to soar they predicted while the existing industrial conditions prevail.

U-53 RETURNS SAFELY TO GERMAN PORT

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—via London, Nov. 1.—The German submarine U-53 has returned safely to a German port, according to the official announcement.

The German submarine U-53 in command of Lieutenant Captain Hans Rose, arrived at Newport, R. I., from Wilhelmshaven on Oct. 7th, and departed after a stay of three hours. In the course of the next day the U-53 sank five ships off the American coast.

Various reports have been current regarding the submarine and it was uncertain whether the craft was returning to Germany or had remained on this side of the Atlantic.

There were various rumors also that she had been sunk. A search by American warships for a German secret base along the New England coast for supplying submarines proved fruitless, according to naval officers.

From the Educator's Notebook.

Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, who was recently inaugurated president of Willamette University at Salem, Ore., was for eight years president of the West Virginia Wesleyan University at Buckhannon, W. Va., before assuming his present post in 1915. Previous to that he had been for four years engaged in the Methodist Episcopal ministry, his last pastorate being in Washington, D. C. Dr. Doney holds the degrees of B. Sc., Ph. D., and A. M. from Ohio State University, and of LL. D. from Howard University. Elaborate ceremonies featured his inauguration at Willamette, which is Oregon's oldest institution of learning and was founded in 1843.

The fact that 1000 students of the University of Syracuse, N. Y., are to earn their way this year, in whole or in part, is calculated to awaken the envy of the country colleges, where the opportunities for self-help of a financial sort are naturally limited by the environment. Educational institutions located in cities certainly have a great advantage at this point, and the ambitious country boy "passing by" the famed institution located in his very home town, and the glory of the state, to seek another college in some distant city where he may count on some "job" outside of lecture hours, is becoming a classic figure of the American college world. In like cases there is regret on both sides. The country boy would prefer the home college; its very name and fame was the first inspiration of his wish for an education. And the home college, no matter how big and rich, looks wistfully at this boy "expatriate."

In some country colleges, special and determined effort is made to procure work for self-supporting students, but the result naturally can be only meager with the absence of opportunities. Brown University, Providence, R. I., has authorized a new degree, that of bachelor of education. This is to enable persons entering the teacher's calling without any college training to crown their normal school course with at least two years of liberal cultural study, to be followed in most cases by a year of graduate study.

No more interesting personality in years has come to the American universities than Sir Rabindranath Tagore, famous Indian poet and Nobel prize winner, who is now on a lecture tour in the United States, and will appear before the leading institutions of learning of the country. Politically the poet, who has accepted knighthood from the British crown, is not reconciled to British overlordship in India, and Germans at this juncture are fond of quoting certain passages of his works which express his views in the matter. "One section of the human race can not be permanently strong," he has written among other things.

"by depriving another section of its inherent rights. The British are getting strong by possession of the Indian Empire. The weakness of dirrained, famine-stricken and poverty-ridden India will be the cause of the destruction of the British Empire." Moreover, this great dreamer of the Orient is not at all an admirer of Western ways, and he deplores the fact that Japan has seen fit to transform herself into a copy of European and American life and bustle. In his famous address at Osaka last spring he told the Japanese so. He said: "The East, with her ideals, in whose bosom are stored the ages of sunlight and the silence of the stars, can patiently wait till the West, hurrying after the expedient, loses breath and stops. The East knows that she is immortal, and she will reappear again and again in man's history, with her draught of life. The West, while busily speeding to her engagements, disdainfully casts her glances from her carriage window to the reaper in the field, and in her intoxication of speed can not but think of him as slow and ever receding backward. But the speed comes to an end, the engagement loses its meaning, and the hungry heart clamors for food, till at last she comes to the lowly reaper, reaping his harvest in the sun." Sir Rabindranath is 55 years old and of princely origin, his family being one of the most ancient and powerful in Bengal. He has published about thirty poetical works of a highly idealistic nature, and about the same number of prose works, including novels, essays, sermons and dramas. He was given the Nobel prize for literature in 1913.

SOME FARM THEMES

PROFITS IN RAISING POULTRY FOR MEAT
Chickens On University Farm Have Brought Unusually Good Prices

During the year 1916 on the poultry farm of the University of Illinois more attention than ever before has been given to raising poultry for the market and the profits have been unusually good.

Nearly nine hundred White Pekin ducklings were raised in the early spring and marketed when they were ten weeks old. Over eight hundred of these ducklings were shipped by express to Chicago and consigned to a commission house on Water street. Their average weight at this age was five and a half pounds and the first shipment sold for thirty cents a pound, declining rapidly as the season advanced to eighteen cents for the last lot. The whole eight hundred averaged over one dollar apiece after paying commissions and expressage.

Chickens from the University farm have brought unusually good prices during the whole season. The first broilers weighing from a pound and a half to two and a quarter pounds, sold in April for sixty cents a pound. For several weeks the price held at fifty cents and has never dropped below thirty-five cents a pound which is the figure they are selling for the last week in October. Old fowls have maintained a steady price during the whole season of thirty cents a pound. These prices are for clean-dressed chickens and fowls, which is the only form in which the University markets its poultry at home.

The chickens and old fowls are all milk-fattened, either in crates or pens, and this season large quantities of stale bread, purchased from a Chicago bakery, have been used. This is soaked in sour buttermilk and mixed with ground corn and oats and has proved the most satisfactory poultry feed yet tried.—D. O. Barie, Poultry Husbandry.

HIGH PRICED CATTLE PAY WELL FOR CORN
George R. Swain Has Had Another Successful Experience in Feeding

Mention was made recently of the sale of 25 head of Durhams and 25 head of Herfords by George R. Swain. These cattle were purchased in St. Louis by Mr. Swain March 20 and varied in cost from $7.90 to $8.25 per head. At that time they weighed from 800 to 1,000 lbs. When the cattle were sold the other day the Durhams weighed 1,500 pounds and brought $11 per hundred and the Herfords 1,300 pounds and sold for $10.90 per hundred. During this feeding time from March 20 until the past week Mr. Swain has also shipped 150 head of hogs. One load of 75 averaged 260 and sold at $9.25 and the other load of 75 averaged 265 reached the market at the high time and sold at $11.35. He still has on hand 75 shoats weighing about 125 to 150 pounds.

Mr. Swain followed his usual method with these cattle and hogs and while he fed high priced corn, the results were very satisfactory. When he shipped the cattle in he immediately began feeding them shocked corn in the morning and let them have access to the self-feeder in the afternoon. In May he turned them in to a good blue grass pasture and they had all the good yellow corn they would eat from the self-feeder. Before the pasture was ready Mr. Swain occasionally fed some beated straw and at other times timothy hay. The change in "roughness" brought good results and seemed to keep the cattle even in keener appetite than usual.

Asked about the value of oil meal feeding, Mr. Swain said that he had never believed that the money spent for oil meal was repaid by the results. He has found that cottonseed meal is good at the finishing time, a very few weeks before the cattle are to be shipped to market.

With this last bunch he did not use cottonseed meal altho he has done so very frequently in former seasons. Mr. Swain believes that silage is valuable feed for dairy stock or for roughness for cattle but does not think it of great advantage where the purpose is to fatten cattle as quickly and as economically as possible. As he puts it, the very best thing you can feed to fatten cattle and hogs is good yellow corn and no substitute to equal it can be found.

TO DISCUSS FARM CREDITS AND LOANS

Conference To Be Held In Chicago Hopes To Devise Plans to Eliminate Wastes

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 31.—James A. King, of Chicago, editor of The Farming Business, has been appointed state director for Illinois for the National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits, according to announcement by the general committee here today. Mr. King will have charge of the educational work of the conference throughout the state.

The fourth annual meeting of the conference will be held at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago, December 4-9. Farm leaders from all the states and Canada are to discuss plans for the improvement of farm credit accommodations. The checking of waste in both the production and distribution of farm products is also to receive attention.

Delegates are to make plans for a nation-wide movement for elimination of waste in the sale of whole milk, livestock, grain and perishable products. Representatives of more than 2,000,000 farmers will co-operate with prominent educators and others interested for "better business, better farming and better living."

Discussion of the workings of the new Federal Farm Loan Act will be part of the important work of the delegates. The conference will make recommendations to congress for its more effective operation. They will also discuss the next steps in legislation for turning tenant farmers and landless men into home owners.

FARM RULE SOON TO COME IN NORTH DAKOTA

Farmers Non-Partisan League Members Certain To Be Elected To Office

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 31.—Theoretically the farmer will rule North Dakota for the next two years. It was the Farmers Non-Partisan League that nominated practically every successful candidate for office at the primaries. The question with the average North Dakota business man, in spite of the fact that many of them are lined up with the non-partisan league, is whether the farmers form the league or the league forms the farmers. The league, which came into existence less than a year ago, carried the primaries with majorities so overwhelming that there is no question as to the result of the election to be held one week from today.

The league did not enter politics to the extent of offering a ticket. It simply endorsed candidates on the regular tickets, and these candidates, without exception, won. A majority of the men who received this endorsement were Republicans, but in the final analysis they are and must be non-partisan league men, and the league will very nearly, if not completely, control every state office from governor down to the members of the legislature, as well as a majority of the county offices, for the two years following January 1 next.

The Non-Partisan League movement was a popular one in North Dakota, where population is very largely rural and always inclined to distrust "big business." The tiller of the soil blamed "big business" for a great many things, and quite a fair percentage of the small town business men and professional men, some for reasons of policy, but many from absolute conviction, sided with the farmer.

The league stands sponsor in its platform, which was adopted in its entirety by the Republican State central committee at its recent meeting in Bismarck, for many things the worth of which none can deny.

The league plans to control the non-resident, speculative landlord through the medium of a substantial tax on the land and the exemption of all improvements thereupon. It also favors strongly the assessing of public utilities for all the traffic will bear. Public utilities in North Dakota have been good investments. Railways, in particular, have earned from 10 to 20 per cent more in this state than they have in some, perhaps merely because North Dakota has never failed to produce a big crop since 1910. At the same time, the authorities have been inclined to favor the railways in the matter of taxation with the hope that the railways might reciprocate in the extension of their systems. Such extensions have not been made, despite the marvelous development of vast stretches of idle lands and the league contends that railway property should be assessed just the same as any other money-making proposition.

The league is in favor of a state highway system; state aid for trunk-line highways and other mediums that will assist North Dakota to avail itself of the graduated Federal aid, beginning with $75,000 per annum, vouchsafed by the Shackelford good roads bill. North Dakota is already crossed and criss-crossed by some half-dozen trans-continental and "Dominion-to-the-Gulf" highways, the expense of which to date has been borne entirely by the municipalities, townships or counties most directly benefitted. Federal aid will mean a vast improvement in these highways and, perhaps, some wagon bridges across the Missouri river which to date is spanned by but one pontoon bridge accessible to automobiles in its entire travels across the state.

The development of the state farm loan plan, which contemplates the lending of public institutional funds to the agriculturist at 5 per cent, is urged by the league. The average rate of interest on farm loans in North Dakota, the Federal government finds, is 8.7 per cent, including commissions. For many years the state loaned institutional funds to an amount not exceeding one-third of the assessed value of the land only, not including improvements, at 6 per cent. At present there are outstanding between 2500 and 3000 loans of this type, representing a total of more than $4,000,000, covering 593,529 of North Dakota's 45,000,000 arable acres.

SPACE BASIS FOR RAILWAY MAIL

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—Tomorrow has been set by the postmaster general, with consent of the Interstate Commerce Commission, as the date for inaugurating the experimental space basis in place of the weight basis for payment of the railroads for carrying the mails. This is regarded as the beginning of the end of the railway mail pay controversy which has been an absorbing topic in several congresses, culminating in the space basis legislation as a rider to the postoffice appropriation bill in the last session. About 90 per cent of the service, the department announces, will go on the space basis tomorrow, the other 10 per cent, which is the closed pouch mail carried on baggage cars and handled by regular train crews, in the less densely populated sections, to remain on the weight basis.

MR. STEFFENS TELLS OF MEXICO'S STRUGGLE

DESCRIBES, IN SYMPATHETIC MANNER, FIGHT FOR "LAND AND LIBERTY."

Author and Journalist Who Has Lived Among Mexican People Defends Carranza as True Patriot—Seventy-five Hear Address at Central Christian Church.

It was in the course of two visits to Mexico, once when Carranza was at the ebb of his power in 1914, and later when the first chief had received the recognition of this government and was again at the helm, that Lincoln Steffens, author and journalist, made the observations which he gave Tuesday evening to an interested audience of seventy-five people at Central Christian church. To Mexico's problems Mr. Steffens brought a keen study of American history and institutions, for, "said he, 'Like causes produce like effects. There are no bad men. Men act according to their beliefs and their environment and the same things which have produced corruption in politics and brutality in business in the United States have, in slightly different ways, brought about in the Mexican nation a state of anarchy and confusion. The whole question is one of privilege and it has been the privileged man, in a country where a bad economic and social system already prevailed, which has brought down misfortune upon the heads of the Mexican people.'

Mr. Steffens came to Jacksonville under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. He arrived in the city at noon and later Tuesday evening left for Bloomington to deliver an address. H. E. Read of St. Louis, who was in the city in the interest of Brown's Business College, accompanied Mr. Steffens, making a brief speech of introduction at the conclusion of the dinner, served at 6:30 o'clock by women of the church. Mr. Steffens is a forceful speaker, logical and deliberate. At no time did he make political capital of Mexican affairs, tho his stand with the president against the recognition of Huerta and his feeling of friendship for Carranza might place him in accord with administration policy.

Mr. Steffens had few words of criticism for any Mexican leader. His words of scorn were directed rather against Americans themselves, not against capital for seeking the country's development, but against the citizens of a free and liberty-loving republic, who, in a foreign land, forget democracy, forget human equality and demand a "strong man" as dictator, for the sole reason that "it would be better for business."

For many years there prevailed in Mexico a system of communal ownership of land. When Diaz, gradually succumbing to foreign influence, had given over to foreign control a large part of Mexico's wealth, there arose an ever increasing labor scarcity. At the suggestion of these foreign capitalists Diaz allowed the common land to be taken away, depriving the Mexican laborer of his plot of ground. With no alternative, the peon was forced to grinding labor in the mines. There came a subtle change in temper. The Indian spirit arose and when a leader came, Mexico flamed with the fires of revolution.

American in Mexico have been almost a unit for the recognition of Huerta. They have wished to see the days of Diaz restored that order might come and that business might proceed. Americans in Mexico have had all too little sympathy with the hopes and ideals of the people themselves.

CATHOLIC MISSION IN PROGRESS AT FRANKLIN

Father Polk Will Hold Special Services Each Day This Week—Great Interest Manifested.

The Catholic mission opened Sunday at the Catholic church in Franklin in a very auspicious way by the Rev. Father Polk, S. C. C. R., of St. Louis. At the 10 o'clock mass the opening sermon theme was "The Object of the Catholic Church." At night he sermon theme was "The Value of a Human Soul." Very large audiences were in attendance, Monday evening Rev. Father Polk considered "Mortal Sin—the Great Evil" and Tuesday night his theme was "Death." As was true of the Sunday services the greatest interest was manifest.

The order of services for the remainder of the week will be first mass at 6 a. m., followed by instructions; second mass at 8 a. m. also followed by instructions; evening, 7:30, rosary, sermon and benediction. This afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a special address for married and unmarried women. Tonight at 7:30 there will be a special lecture for married and unmarried men. Other sermon themes announced are:

Thursday 7:30: Judgment.
Friday 7:30: Precept.
Saturday 7:30: The Blessed Virgin.

REV. A. A. TANNER RESIGNS
PASTORATE IN DENVER

Will Engage in Actual Labor and Study Conditions Among Working Classes.

According to a Denver despatch
Rev. Allen A. Tanner has resigned
the pastorate of the First Congregational church and the Peoples Tabernacle there and will enter upon a practical study of labor and economic conditions. As the newspaper writers say, "the minister will put on overalls" and be one of the workers and thus get their viewpoint in an actual way. This work will not benew to Rev. Mr. Tanner as for a number of years he was employed in a machine shop at Toledo, O., and advanced to such an extent that he later was admitted to membership in the union and had his "card" just like any other member of the craft.
While in Toledo he became an intimate friend of "Golden Rule" Jones and preached the sermon when that well known mayor of Toledo died.

In tendering his resignation Mr.
Tanner said "The church either must get back on a human plane or get out of business. It must cease teaching technical Christianity and teach the law of love, the fundamental idea of religions. Ministers study God too much and human beings too little. I expect to study the teachings of Christianity as applied to industrial conditions and I shall study
the church to find out what changes specifically are needed to meet the social conditions we must face after the war."

was afforded and after a half hour
of guessing the prizes were awarded to Miss Rena Chaney and Ina Freer.

MANCHESTER AGAINST TOWN.

SHIP HIGH SCHOOL.
By a vote of 214 to 52 the voters of Manchester defeated the township high school plan. This was the second time the issue had been placed before the people of Manchester and indicates quite clearly that the township high school is not favored. Immediately after the former election
a few months ago those in favor of the proposition, firm in the belief that it would carry if put before the people a second time, began to lay plans for another contest. The second election covered considerable new territory, a strip of Green county one mile south and six miles east and west being included.

DR. DEARBORN DEAD
AT MT. STERLING HOME

Brown County Physician Was Well Known in This City.

A Mt. Sterling paper has the account of the death there Sunday morning of Dr. Henry B. Dearborn, a prominent physician of this section of Illinois, and at one time a student at Illinois college. Dr. Dearborn was born in Mt. Sterling November 16, 1865, and was a grandson of Dr.
Jonathan Dearborn, who practiced medicine in Mt. Sterling continuously for forty-one years.

Dr. Henry Dearborn received his degree from Rush Medical college in 1888 and at once entered upon the practice of his profession in Mt.
Sterling. He had served as coroner for two terms and was prominently identified with the Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows' organizations.
Surviving him are his widow and two brothers. There are also several sisters, including Mrs. Senze S. Rusneral services will be conducted today from the family residence in Mt.

SURPRISE MASQUERADE.

The 36th birthday of Earl Bourne, residing three and a half miles north of the city occurred recently and accordingly a host of his friends decided that the evening should be properly celebrated so arraying themselves in masks they repaired to the home of Mr. Bourne taking him wholly by surprise. Decorations were carried by the self-invited guests and the dining room was made beautiful in colors of orange and black. Vocal and instrumental music was furnished
during the evening much to the satisfaction of all present. Among the numbers were several on the violin
by Miss Nettie Meek of the state school for the blind. Dancing and games were features of the evening and excellent refreshments consisting of doughnuts, pumpkin pie, coffee and other goods were heartily enjoyed by all. At a late hour the guests departed with many good wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Bourne.

CANADIANS HOPE FOR
WILSON'S ELECTION

Men Across the Border Find Democratic Tariff Rules Very Profitable.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 31.—Newspaper reports of Canada's intense interest in the American presidential election comes as no surprise to former President Taft, who, in an authorized interview today, said:
"Newspaper reports show Canadian business men and manufacturers are greatly interested in the American presidential campaign and that the Canadians are hoping President Wilson will be re-elected in order that there may be no change in the Underwood tariff."

"I don't blame them. Were I a Canadian manufacturer I would hate to see Mr. Hughes and a Republican congress elected. I would feel just as the newspapers say the Canadians feel about the matter. Our election is almost as vitally interesting to Canada as to our own country. With a Republican president in the White House and a Republican majority in congress, Canadian business men know that the immense trade that they have built up in the United States at the expense of American manufacturers and American workingmen will be taken from them and returned to the Americans, where it was previous to the enactment of the Underwood tariff. They know that the $300,000,000 worth of Canadian products sold in the United States
this year will not be duplicated next year, but that this immense business will go to Americans instead. I don't blame the Canadian manufacturers for betraying the gravest interest in our election. The very existence of their vast trade with America rests
on the outcome of our campaign."

Canada Did Not Want Reciprocity.

"During my administration the American congress offered Canada
the benefit of our great buying capacity in return for access to the Canadian markets. We called it the Reciprocity Act. But Canada voted it down overwhelmingly. Canadian business men did not want to have to compete with American manufacturers on even terms. They chose rather to have each country barricaded against the other—chose to see a tariff wall maintained by each country. Then the Underwood tariff was enacted. We threw down our tariff wall and opened wide our markets to the competition of the world. Canadian business men, thru the Underwood tariff, secured even more from America than they would have gained under the Reciprocity Act—and they gave absolutely nothing
in return."

Watching Results.

"Here are some figures, compiled at Ottawa, which show why the business men of Canada are watching our campaign with such great anxiety. In 1912, the year before the Underwood tariff was enacted, Canada sent into America products to the value of $105,000,000. In 1915, the second year of the Underwood
tariff, the exports to us were worth $215,000,000, and in 1916 these exports had increased to $300,000,000.
Next year they expect to sell us $500,000,000 worth of their products."

"But that is not all. Because the Underwood tariff does not provide that Canada give American manufacturers the same rights in Canada
that it gives to Canadians over here,
many of our American manufacturers are being forced to locate in Canada and to employ Canadian workmen instead of American workmen. The Monetary Times, a financial newspaper of Toronto, estimated that in 1912, 163 American firms, with investments of $226,000,000, were located in Canada. The same authority says 300 American factories, worth $500,000,000
were in Canada."

REPUBLICANS ENTHUSED
AT MASS MEETING

LOCAL SPEAKERS FURNISHED
INTERESTING PROGRAM.

Colored Minister and Former Progressive Chairman are Among the Number—Party Lauded for History of Good Deeds.

A goodly number gathered at Armory hall last evening to hear Miss Bernice Marshall speak under the auspices of the Republican ladies of the city but unfortunately Miss Marshall missed her train and failed to appear.

County chairman, Mrs. Miller Weir turned the meeting over to the men.
Charles B. Graft first announced the Co. B quartet and they gave some splendid numbers and were well received. The quartet includes Owen Draper, tenor; Charles Brackett, baritone; Benjamin Pruett, lead, A.
Swar, bass. The speakers were Hugh
B. Green, Rev. Mr. Scruggs Carl E.
Robinson and Major McDougall.

Mr. Green's address was well received. He prefaced his remarks with a poem the refrain of which was "Jacksonville is good enough for me." He said in part: "There is a great distinction between the two parties. The Republican party came into power to curb the extension of slavery; it continued in power to preserve the union, to establish American industries; to pay the national debt with honor; to protect the colored man in his rights and give him freedom; to give the country the best system of currency it ever had had;
to maintain the country's standard of currency; to treat the Philippines with honor and integrity and maintain the nation's honor."

"The Democratic party has been one of negation and mainly against the government; without a principle and without a policy except free trade and state's rights it has plunged the land into trouble whenever it has been in power. Like Belshazzar, it has been weighed in the balance
and found wanting!"

Changes Since War Began.

"At the beginning of the European war hundreds of thousands of American mechanics were out of employment thru Democratic free trade;
and when that war ends they will again be walking the streets if the Democratic party succeeds in the coming election. The Republican party stands for the rights of Americans wherever found; for maintaining the principles of true American-ism. I attended the convention that nominated Hughes and his popularity was a great wave that no one could resist; the people demanded him. President Wilson's policy has been one of wavering and weakness.
He has brought the flag to dishonor
and disgrace in Mexico and has wavered and faltered till he has made our nation the laughing stock of the world. It is important to beat him.
Urge the women to turn out and vote and let every one see to it that the honor and prosperity of our land
are not put in jeopardy."

Rev. Mr. Scruggs, pastor of Mt.
Emory Baptist church was the next speaker. He said he supposed he had been called on so as to give color to the occasion. His address was a powerful effort and elicited frequent and hearty applause. He said in part:

"We are tremendously in earnest to elect Hughes and will do it. The American people have not gone crazy.
Wilson has done more to discredit
the colored race than any man that ever was president. Now we have a chance to strike back at him with the ballot and we will do it. He made many fair promises and lots of colored people voted for him but when he was elected he turned his back on us. Now when I see a colored Democrat I am sure he is such for revenue only. All that has been done for the colored man has been done by the Republican party. Wilson has segregated the colored clerks in Washington; has tried to keep colored men from enlisting; has tried to keep colored soldiers from being commissioned as officers and the Democrats have gone so far as to try to get the XIV and XV amendments to the constitution rescinded.
A Democratic negro is a traitor to his race. Wilson has done the best he could but he is dominated by Vardaman, Tillman, Blaine and similar southerners who run every thing and he is helpless. If the vote of the white woman is a stand off that of the colored women will then hold the balance of power and it will be for Hughes."

The County Ticket.

Carl Robinson, Republican candidate for state's attorney was the next speaker. He said he was almost afraid to say anything at all for so many things had been attributed to him which he surely never said in his waking moments he must have been talking in his sleep. The Republican county candidates have some big guns trained against them and the fight is on and it is hot. One thing was absolutely sure, if elected he would go into the office absolutely untrammeled with no pledges to any one. The county ticket needed the help of all and all are urged to work
for it unceasingly.

Thomas Stevenson made a pointed address. He called attention to the great parade the Courier had made about the Progressive platform committee. The men were nearly all solid Democrats anyway and did not at all represent the party. He had been the county chairman of the Progressive party and had endured obloquy for it. He had not left the Republican party but it had left
and now they were together again and he wanted the Democrats to know that the vast majority of the Progressive party was again in the Republican fold. Three years ago the Democrats lauded Roosevelt to the skies and now they vilify him
and he has not changed a particle.
The Morgan County Progressive were almost to a man back with the Republican party.

Major McDougall made an earnest plea for the soldiers' monument.
Another song by the glee club and the meeting adjourned.

Mrs. Charles McCracken of Manchester was a caller on city people yesterday.

THE BATTLE CRY OF THE NEW FREEDOM

(With Apologies to George Frederick Root.)

(Copyright, 1916, by John T. McCutcheon.)

For he kept us out of war, boys, he'll always keep us out,
Shouting the cry of watchful waiting,
'Neath our flag of snowy white, we will be too proud to fight,
Shouting the cry of watchful waiting.

CHORUS.
The Union forever, hurrah, boys, hurrah!
Down with the soldier, up with the pen,
For he kept us out of war, boys, rally once again,
Shouting the cry of watchful waiting.

When the sword is at our throat, he will write a little note,
Shouting the cry of watchful waiting,
For he kept us out of war, boys, he kept us out of war,
Shouting the cry of watchful waiting.

Let your hearts with rapture burst as we sing of safety first,
Shouting the cry of watchful waiting,
When the hated foreign foes walk around upon our toes,
We'll shout the cry of watchful waiting.

JOHN BARRETT GIVES SUMMARY OF REPORT

Recently Returned From Studying European Viewpoint of Influence of the War On Pan American Commerce.

Washington, Oct. 31.—In an advance statement issued today, John Barrett, director general of the Pan American Union, who has recently returned from a special trip to England and France to study the European viewpoint of the influence of the war upon Pan American commerce, gives a summary of the report which he has prepared. While abroad he conferred with leading officials and representative financiers and manufacturers connected with foreign trade, being afforded every facility in his investigations by both government and private interests. By invitation of the British and French authorities he also spent a week at the battle-front in France, from Verdun to the Somme. The report also reaches the following conclusions of concern to the commercial and financial interests of the United States and Latin America:

1. Not a government official, banker or general business man, or any army officer, would express a positive opinion as to the duration or end of the war, except that the majority plainly believed that it would last well into 1918 or even longer.

2. A most powerful semi-official organization and movement has been quietly but effectively started in both England and France, not only to make now an extraordinary effort to maintain their present trade with the Americas and regain what may have been lost during the first two years of the war, but to prepare ahead for a greater effort after the war in building up this trade than they ever made before.

3. Under conditions which amount to encouragement and almost to actual government aid, a large variety of industries heretofore little developed, and hence figuring slightly in the foreign trade of these countries, is being rapidly developed and will surely play a prominent part in their future commerce and in competition with the United States and other countries.

4. A vast practical army of very skilled but reasonably paid labor is being trained and developed all over Great Britain and France in the form of women workers, who will increase immensely the efficiency of manufacture and the volume of output of foreign commerce despite the loss of male and skilled labor resulting from the war.

5. Notwithstanding the extraordinary financial burdens of the war, the British and French financial and commercial interests, recognizing the plainly injurious effect upon their foreign commerce of their present withdrawal from financing government loans and private undertakings in Latin America and that the United States is rapidly supplanting them in this respect, are now planning to co-operate in caring for this field in the future as they have done in the past.

6. Everywhere, however, in both official and private circles, there is not only an expressed belief that there is abundant room in South and Central America for the financial and commercial efforts both of the United States and of England and France but a sincere desire to co-operate as far as possible with the commercial States in order to avoid a ruinous competition that would be harmful to all concerned. Everywhere, moreover, strange as it may seem, there is decided optimism rather than pessimism about the effect of the war on the capacity of England and France to care successfully for their foreign trade under war conditions and again under the conditions which will follow the war.

CHANGE IN PRICE.

Beginning November 1, the price of meals at this cafe will be 35c instead of 25c. This change is made necessary by the increased cost of all food supplies. The merchant's lunch will be continued as heretofore. . . . James H. Hall.

ASSOCIATION WILL NOT HOLD SPECIAL MEETING

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—There will be no special meeting of the American association here Thursday as requested by four of its club owners. It was announced at the headquarters of the association here tonight. The request of five club owners is necessary before a special meeting can be called and President Wathen of the Louisville club, vice-president of the association, has declined to join the movement of the four clubs requesting the meeting. Certain club owners according to clubs will strongly oppose the re-election of President Chivington at the annual meeting of the association which probably will be held here early in December. Wathen's reason for refusing to join in making the request, he said, was because he considered the movement unfair to President Chivington during the latter's absence on a vacation trip.

WILL NOT ACCEPT OFFER

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 31.—The University of Nebraska will not accept any offer to play a post-season football game with an eastern or any other team, according to athletic director Reed today in refusing a proposal made by Walter E. Hapgood, business manager of the Boston Braves.

Hapgood proposed Nebraska to play December 2nd, on the Braves field, Boston, Tufts, Brown or Dartmouth.

COURT ACTION LEAVES OLD LAW IN EFFECT

Interested Persons May Ask For Rehearing on High School Tuition Law.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 31.—The decision of the Illinois supreme court declaring unconstitutional the high school tuition law of 1915, leaves in effect the old law, which provided that the payment of tuition by a high school pupil living in a district which had no high school, should be settled by the boards of the respective districts. The law declared void provided for the payment of the tuition out of the state distribution fund.

It is probable those interested in upholding the most recent law will ask the high court for another hearing.

In the meantime district school boards are having difficulties. Those boards in whose districts there are no high schools are met with the problem of paying the tuition of pupils from their districts who are attending high schools in other districts. For this purpose they had made no tax levy and many have no funds.

The school boards where high schools are maintained are face to face with the problem of getting tuition from their visiting pupils upon whom they have depended for a portion of their revenue.

The pupils themselves must either get their home boards to advance their tuition, have their parents pay it or quit high school just as the school term is getting under way.

There is another angle to the question affecting those districts maintaining high schools. Under the law declared unconstitutional, these districts have gradually increased their tuition to the non-resident pupils until in some instances it has been doubled. They were encouraged to do this because the tuition was coming from the distributive fund and no one complained. In Joliet, for instance, the tuition was raised to $105 and later lowered to $95. In Springfield it has gone to $79 a year for each pupil.

The high schools in these cities have depended in some measure on these high tuitions to maintain their schools.

On the other hand, under the old law, there was a constant tendency to hold the tuition down because the boards in the districts having no high schools would send their pupils to the schools charging the lower tuition.

School officials predict, if the old law again comes into effect, there will be a noticeable lowering of high school tuitions.

The state distributive fund is made up of a one mill tax on the dollar on all taxable property in the state. It amounts to approximately $4,000,000 each year. Out of this fund is paid $240,000 for county superintendents' salaries, $200,000 to township treasurers, and about $147,000 for teachers' pensions. It is said there is a possibility that all three of those funds are affected by the decision on the tuition act.

The operation of the high school tuition act has been suspended in ten counties where injunction proceedings were brought to restrain the payment of funds under its provisions. One of the objections of high school boards was that the law taxed them to support townships which were unable to maintain high schools. Such injunction suits were brought in Rockford, Elgin, Aurora, Danville, Champaign, Springfield, Bloomington and several smaller cities. In these districts the old law has been in effect pending the outcome of the injunction suits.

School authorities announce they will introduce a new bill in the next legislature which will conform with the ruling of the supreme court.

SUFFRAGISTS WORK ALONG THREE LINES

Some Want Full Suffrage Amendment. Some to Amend the Amending Clause and Others a Constitutional Convention.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 31.—The percentage of the vote required in Illinois to amend the state constitution is the problem which is confronting suffragists in their attempt to change the state's fundamental law to permit full suffrage.

The suffragists are working along three lines, or at least have three propositions before them, as follows: 1. To amend the constitution by presenting directly a full suffrage amendment; 2. To amend the amending clause; 3. To hold a constitutional convention and build a new constitution.

The full suffrage amendment would be presented to the people by the legislature's voting to place it on the ballot at the next succeeding election. The resolution proposing an amendment requires a two-thirds vote of both branches of the general assembly. The passage of the amendment requires a majority of all the votes cast at the election. In this provision lies the chief objection made by those opposed to the suffrage amendment. They say a suffrage amendment can never be mustered a majority of all the votes cast. They believe it could receive a majority of the votes cast on the amendment. Too many voters neglect special propositions, either thru ignorance or carelessness, they say and every person who fails to vote on the amendment in effect votes against it.

The amending clause of the constitution provides that "the general assembly shall have no power to propose amendments to more than one article of this constitution at the same session, nor to the same article more than once in four years," and that a majority of all votes cast at the election is required for passage of the amendment.

One group of suffragists proposes to amend the amending clause to permit more than one amendment to be submitted at a time and to make its passage depend on a majority of only those ballots cast on the amendment and not the total number of ballots cast at the election. They contend that those interested enough in the suffrage amendment to vote on it will give it an easy majority.

An amendment to the amending clause would be of course, an amendment to the constitution and it would require a majority of all votes cast. It has been suggested it would be impossible to amend the amending clause in two particulars because this would be submitting more than one amendment to the constitution at a time, which the constitution forbids.

A resolution providing for an amendment to the amending clause could be passed by the coming session of the legislature, and could be

A CHILD'S TONGUE SHOWS IF LIVER OR BOWELS ARE ACTIVE

If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Bilious, Give Fruit Laxative At Once.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without gripping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue. Mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile, and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

THE MYSTERIOUS FOE

A Series of Stories About Some Illinois Men, Women and Children. Issued by the Illinois State Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis

THIRTEENTH EPISODE.

Agnes is a clerk in a drygoods store in a prosperous community.

Every day she smiles as sweetly as she can on shoppers rich and poor, young and old, white and black, kind and cross, polite and insulting.

Her job is to sell as many yards of cloth as possible and to please the customers who pause before her counter.

Many girls become clerks because they like the feeling of independence such work gives them but somehow Mary doesn't feel particularly independent.

She has a fierce longing to have her own little home, filled with love and laughter. But she doesn't quite see how or when she is going to get it because none of the young men she knows seem to measure up to her ideas of what a husband should be.

So she reports at the store every morning at the stipulated hour, and does her very best to add to the profits of her employer.

And she submits graciously to slights cast upon her by those who consider themselves her "social superior" just because she is a working girl. The graciousness, however, is merely exterior. She often seethes with bottled-up indignation at the snobbishness of some of her customers.

There are other things than snobbishness that should make her "seethe." For instance, notice the cus-

It is very likely that this woman who is trying to find a dress pattern that suits her fancy, has tuberculosis.

Anyway, she certainly has a cough and you will notice that she is coughing without protecting her face with a handkerchief. If she does have tuberculosis, the act of coughing once has sent myriads of disease germs into the meshes of cloth in the bolt of goods before her.

It may be she has been a bit "snippy" towards Agnes who is doing the best she can to please her.

And if she has, Agnes probably has resented it down deep to her sensitive little soul.

But the "snippishness" is far less detrimental to Agnes than the one act of coughing directly into that bolt of dress goods.

For Agnes will handle and rehandle that same bolt of goods and the disease germs in it will be stirred up and cast forth into the air on minute particles of dust and Agnes will breathe them.

If it should be that Agnes some day contracts tuberculosis, and her dreams of a happy home are shattered it may be due to this carelessness on the part of this customer or others equally careless.

And think of the other customers who may become infected in the same way!

Cleveland, O., Oct. — Racing on the ice rinks of Russia, Frank Caton and his two sons, Will and Samuel of Cleveland, have proven themselves bigger money winners than on the Grand Circuit.

According to the elder Caton, who has just returned here after 23 years in the realm of Emperor Nicholas, he and his two sons within the last three years drove horses to victories that netted a total of 675,000 rubles—about $327,000.

Despite the war, Mr. Caton says, the winter race meets at Petrograd and Moscow have continued and the sport is "going big." At Moscow the total betting in a single day has gone over a million rubles. Races start at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and continue after dark until 9 o'clock under electric lights.

Chicago, Oct. — James Scott, veteran pitcher of the Chicago Americans, is to be traded for an infielder, according to reports which are said to be authentic. Scott did not have a good season in 1916. Ray Chapman of Cleveland and Fritz Maisell, of the New York Americans are the players President Comisky is reported to be after. Maisell, who played in New York's outfield last season, wants to play third base.

Albion, Mich., Oct. — Withdrawal of Adrian college from the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association's football schedule makes the race a five college event. Albion, champion last season and Alma college seem to have the strongest teams.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. — Coach Yost of the University of Michigan football eleven is authority for the statement that his sophomore quarterback, Sparks, is one of the most brilliant field generals that ever directed a Wolverine eleven.

Yost has admitted that Sparks' field goal against M. A. C. was not the result of a carefully planned trick play, but was achieved by quick thinking. The play was to have been a place kick by Maubetsch. Sparks received the ball from the center, but the pass was bad. The little quarterback, realizing that Maubetsch would not have time to make his play, leaped to his feet and made a drop kick which sailed over the cross-bars.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. — The bozong season at Windsor, Ont., will open Nov. 1. Frank Brennan, a Detroit middleweight, will meet "Knockout" Brennan of Buffalo.

Paris, Oct. 31.—William C. Walker of Hingham, Mass., attached to the American ambulance service was wounded in the leg while fighting near Verdun.

London, Oct. 31.—A Russian Imperial ukase authorizes the issue of a ten year 5 1/2 percent loan of 3,000,000,000 rubles says a Reuter despatch from Petrograd.

Berlin, Oct. 31.—By wireless to Sayville.—French newspapers praise Sergeant Lufbery of the American flying squadron for having shot down his fifth German airplane during the raid against Oberndorf-on-Neckar on Oct. 12th, says the Overseas News Agency. "In the air combats in southern Germany on the date mentioned not one German flyer was disabled or even hurt."

Berlin, Oct. 31.—By wireless to Sayville.—Reports from Stockholm declare serious riots have occurred at Moscow, Kiev and elsewhere in the Volga district of Russia," says the Overseas News Agency. "At Moscow empty meat shops were stormed and two persons were killed by the police during a riot before a sugar shop at Kiev."

London, Oct. 31.—British casualties reported in October in all war areas are: Officers 4,331. Men, 192,702.

October losses of 107,033 bring up the total British casualties for the four months of the Somme offensive to 414,202. The daily average loss for October is 3,452.

The British figures are of especial interest on account of their bearing on the controversy between London and Berlin regarding the losses of the Allies on the Somme.

London, Oct. 31.—Loss of six drift net boats, in addition to the sinking of the transport Queen and the torpedo boat destroyer Flirt in the recent raid by German submarines in the English channel, was admitted by A. J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, in the house of commons today.

"There is ground for thinking," Mr. Balfour declared, "that two German torpedo boat destroyers after being hit during the action, struck mines and were blown up and probably sunk."

The above is the first intimation from British sources that any ships except the Queen, Flirt and Neubian were damaged in the German raid during the night of October 26-27. The British official statement said that two of the German destroyers had been sunk and the remainder driven off. The Neubian foundered in a gale after the battle. The German official statement declared at least eleven outpost steamers and two or three torpedo boat destroyers or torpedo boats were sunk or damaged by the German squadron and added that the German ships had returned safely to their base.

AMENDMENT VOTE HELD CIVIC DUTY

Success of Self-Government Requires All Who Have the Right, Should Vote on All Constitutional Amendments That Are Submitted.

VOTERS TO RULE, MUST VOTE

Tax Amendment One of the Most Important That Has Ever Been Proposed to Illinois Voters—Failure to Vote Counts "No."

When the American citizen elects officials to administer public affairs, he gives much thought and attention to his vote, say those interested in the tax amendment.

But, more important, from time to time, he is called upon to establish, or recast, the form of government itself. This he does by making, revising or amending the constitution of his state.

This right to pass upon the constitution, and on constitutional amendments, is the point at which the people can make themselves most distinctly and most effectively felt in the matter of self-government. It is the greatest "referendum."

It is unfortunate that American prosperity has a tendency to make the people frivolous and disregardful of the graver concerns of government. Too many think—when they take time to think—as they are prospering, that all is well with them. They are disinclined even to give thought to changes in the method of government. They lose sight of the fact that the present prosperity of the country has been brought about by the studious devotion of the people to the details of government in the past.

The changes that have become necessary in our method of government are largely due to the wisdom of the plans of those who, in former years, devoted themselves to constitution making. It was not expected that the Illinois constitutions of 1818, 1848 and 1870 were to last forever. They were the preliminary steps of building up the state. And, these first efforts have succeeded even beyond the most visionary dreams of those who framed them.

The 1870 constitution of Illinois has developed our financial and material resources. The new conditions brought about by it require that it be amended to provide for them. Among the most conspicuous of these is the matter of public revenue.

The needs of the state and its municipalities have outgrown conditions as they existed even as late as 1870. The requirement that all property pay a "uniform tax" was put into the constitution when it was possible to assess all property uniformly because all property was uniformly visible and equally easy of assessment. The creation of new intangible values has brought about conditions which require that the constitution be changed so that invisible values will be made to pay taxes in proportion to their income and their ability to bear taxation. At the same time the tax on them has got to be adjusted to the tax rates on similar classes of property in other states.

The Tax Amendment to the constitution to be voted on November 7, offers to voters an opportunity to act in the very highest matter of self-government. Voters should express themselves. If they are in favor of the amendment they should vote for it. If they are not in favor of it they should vote against it. The voter should throw off his inertia and take hold of the affairs of his state, and make himself felt.

There is much complaint about taxation—and much that rightly may be complained of. And now is the time for the voter to express himself in favor of reform by marking his ballot "Yes."

To fail to vote is to abandon the greatest fundamental right of citizenship.

The Tax Amendment to be voted on November 7 offers the only means for an intelligent and impartial recasting of the Illinois taxation system.

In eastern states—as statistics show—the interest rate on money is much less than it is in Illinois. At the same time the tax rate on mortgages and other intangible values is less than provided for by the laws of this state. There is a connection between these two facts which voters, November 7, when the Tax Amendment is laid before them to be voted on, cannot afford to disregard. Our law requires the taxation of all mortgages at a rate three or four times as great as that of eastern states.

Have you a savings deposit? If you have, it is liable to taxation under the laws as they now exist. If the law is enforced in future you will have to pay every year, in taxes, about one-half the amount which the bank pays to you in interest. In states where this matter of fixing savings bank deposits has been intelligently dealt with a very low rate has been placed upon savings deposits which has helped banks and depositors and made for public honesty. Vote for the Tax Amendment.

ASSOCIATED PRESS READY FOR ELECTION

NEWSGATHERING PLANS ARE EXPLAINED IN DETAIL

World Wide Organization Has All Forces Lined Up Ready For Election November 7th—Plans Were Begun Two Years Ago—Army of Extra Workers and Wires Ready to Get Results at Earliest Possible Moment.

New York, Oct. 30.—F-L-A-S-H! is elected! On the night of Tuesday, November 7, the missing name in the foregoing sentence will be supplied by The Associated Press.

In the business of news-gathering as developed by this world-wide organization, the first word sent over the wires telling of any extraordinary event is "Flash!" It is the signal of a thrill. The ordinary routine of The Associated Press bureau and their hundreds of newspaper-members is often punctuated with the "F-l-a-s-h!" Operators from Bangor to San Diego, from Tampa to Tacoma, tighten their lagging nerves and editors come scurrying to the wires to hear a Pope is dead, a Titanic sunk, another country at war, a Lusitania torpedoed, a battle won, a king deposed, or a president elected.

Service is Speed Marvel

This latter thrill has a recognized periodicity, like the passage of a comet, and the experience of it is again imminent. Within a few hours after you have scratched your ballot, The Associated Press will have flashed the verdict which you and sixteen million fellow voters have rendered—will have flashed it perhaps within a few minutes after the last of these sixteen million ballots has been dropped in its box in some of the Western States, where three hours difference in time makes late the closing of the polls.

How, in this brief time, anything approximating an accurate accounting of these sixteen million votes can be achieved, the returns assembled, and the result made known throughout the land is a process both simple and marvellous. It is true, of course, that all of those sixteen million votes are not counted, but when The Associated Press announces the election, that announcement will be as trustworthy as if they were.

The gathering and distribution of returns this year will mark one of the greatest cooperative efforts that has been made on any similar occasion to accomplish this purpose. In previous elections The Associated Press, relying more largely on its own resources, has done notable work in the prompt and accurate reporting of the election figures. In the Roosevelt-Parker contest of 1904 the organization was able not only definitely to announce the result but also to indicate the full extent of the victory as early as eight o'clock on election night. Equally remarkable service has been rendered in other elections, and the value of the Associated Press' figures has been such that defeated candidates themselves have, on the strength of them, sent their telegrams of congratulation to their victorious opponents. The service has been such that it has invariably brought to the executives of the organization a flood of telegrams on the day after in tribute to the "comprehensiveness," "speed" and "accuracy" with which the work has been done. This year it is possible that all records will be broken, for The Associated Press has for the coming election enlisted the cooperation of its members from coast to coast in a more concerted effort than ever before.

Plans for Nov. 7 Began Two Years Ago

More than two years ago preparations were begun, under the direction of the General Manager of The Associated Press, to "cover" the news which will be served to the public on the night of November 7. Election experts of the organization have during these two years canvassed every state in the Union and arranged with the papers of each state to work together on a cooperative basis under the supervision of the established Associated Press bureaus. Thousands of special forms have been prepared for the systematic conduct of the service, thousands of typewritten sheets distributed listing candidates and showing votes four years ago as a basis of comparison, correspondents appointed and special wire facilities arranged for this particular work.

In the collection of returns, the county everywhere is made the unit, and it is the purpose of the system to hear definitely from every election district of the more important states. In New York state alone these districts number 5,700. In Illinois there are over 5,000 and in other states a proportionately large number of districts to be heard from. Taking New York state as typical of the system that will be followed in principle at least by other states, the service there is worked out broadly as follows:

Having arranged for some competent man to take charge of each county up-state and for cooperative effort with the New York City News Association for the collection of the metropolitan returns, the New York headquarters of the Associated Press is made the center of tabulation. The up-state county man is stationed at the most convenient center, usually the county seat, from which he throws out his net for the gathering of his local returns.

Twenty Five Extra Wires

For the special work in hand, twenty five extra wires are strung into The Associated Press offices in New York, giving direct and exclusive connection with the principal cities. Before the operators is stacked a varied assortment of printed forms, whose blank spaces await the figures that tell the story. There are pink forms, blue forms, buff, green, yellow and white to make the various combinations of the vote for President, Governor, Senate, Congress, and the two Houses of the State Legislature.

In an adjoining room there have been assembled a staff of a hundred men to serve as tabulators. Previous to the election The Associated Press has arranged with some of the best banks in the city to furnish expert accountants for this work. They work in relays, the first crew reporting at the close of the polls, five o'clock, compiling the figures until two o'clock in the morning.

Less than ten minutes after the closing of the polls, the work begins. The first returns in New York are invariably from some of the up-state cities where voting machines are employed. There are, however, some localities on Cape Cod and down in Maine which for years have prided themselves on being the first in with their vote. In such small places the law permits the opening of the ballot boxes as soon as it has been made certain that the full vote of the place has been polled, and the result is then made known.

Bulletins From New York

It is only by dribbles that the first figures come in, but once the avalanche is started there is no let-up to the tick of the telegraph sounders, and a swarm of the colored blanks is kept flying from the receiving operators to the tabulators. The figures are first entered by the tabulators and passed along to the designated chief who keeps a "Doomsday Book" showing the running total of the vote throughout the night. Every fifteen minutes the business of tabulation is punctuated by the issue of a bulletin on New York State, which is rushed to the leased trunk wires of The Associated Press—and over these main arteries and secondary ones—some 47,000 miles of them, some eighty different circuits—the news circulates, keeping all of the nine hundred and forty newspaper-members of the association posted on how the country is going.

The form of these bulletins is known to thousands who have seen them flashed on election screens:

506 election districts out of 5,700 in New York state, for President, give: Wilson—; Hughes—

So, district by district, these bulletins grow until it looks so certain to some of the experts that one paper or another will concede somebody's election. But the Associated Press concedes nothing. It must know.

In the year of the Odell-Coler fight for governor in New York in 1909, its system had a severe test. Coler ran up a big vote in New York City, and the heavy vote of Odell up-state was overlooked by many of the newspapers which conceded Coler's election. The Associated Press, in the midst of this confusion was led to wonder if its figures were right. The General Manager had an abiding confidence in his men and figures, but in the face of concession that some of the papers were making of Coler's election, something must be done to check the matter. He ordered a recount. The system provided for just such an emergency, and this Odell-Coler year is the only time it has ever been called into play. All of the county returns, after being tabulated, are hung on a large rack of hooks, classified by counties, where they are immediately available for recount. Off the hooks came these hundreds of telegrams, and in just fifteen minutes time the entire state vote was recounted. The head tabulator, forgetting for the moment that he was in a newspaper office instead of his bank, exclaimed, "Mr. Stone, we check to a penny!" The recount tallied exactly with the figures The Associated Press had previously given out and the papers which, independently of The Associated Press figures, had conceded Coler's election had eventually to admit their error.

Accuracy Seldom Questioned

The accuracy of the Associated Press figures has seldom since been questioned. In connection with the recent New York state primary, in the fight between Calder and Bacon for the Republican nomination as candidate for a seat in the United States Senate, the majority given by The Associated Press was only 79 votes at variance with the official count. In a Massachusetts state election last year the Boston bureau scored a record by announcing the returns only three votes off from the official figures.

The election machinery of The Associated Press is at work in all the states, but it is developed to its highest pitch of efficiency in the states having the largest electoral votes and the smallest average of consistency in presidential years.

Given a definite line on New York state, on Massachusetts, which is invariably prompt, and a reflection of the vote in the Central and Western States, where a difference in time is a handicap to early returns, the result of the presidential election may be pretty definitely announced at an early hour and often the full extent of the victory indicated, so accurately has the gauge of election figures been fixed by previous experience.

Knowing with a near certainty whether it is Wilson or Hughes will be sufficient for the throngs at the bulletin boards on election night, but The Associated Press goes on to a still bigger task than the mere announcement of the result. That would not go far to complete the morning paper. There are columns to fill with state tabulations, with lists of governors elected, the detailed constitution of the United States Senate and the House of Representatives, and similar tables for each state, locally handled, on the constitution of the state legislature. There are comprehensive "reads" to write in summary of the figures, and contests in particular states to be explained.

There is one human cog in the election night machine that is even more interesting than the General Manager of The Associated Press. He is the Paul Revere of the backwoods districts who gallops his horse or drives his motorcycle to the nearest telegraph station. There are still some remote regions—a great many of them—where the polling of a presidential vote is almost a game of solitaire, and from some of them couriers must ride twenty miles before they can release by wire to a waiting nation the fact that a plurality of one for—(it would be partisan to anticipate the name) had been cast at Ranch 43. There are several such remote districts even in New York State whence news leaks almost as slowly as in Montana or Idaho. And there is no deprecating the importance of the vote that is cast at Clover Four-Corners. It is the will of the people that rules, and The Associated Press can know no distinction when it comes to the counting of honest ballots. Otherwise it would not pay for that twenty-mile ride.

The Trouble in New Jersey

New Jersey has been a thorn in the flesh of the election tabulators for many years. In the first place it refuses to close its polls until 7 o'clock, and its law requires that the counting of the entire ballot from top to bottom shall be completed before another ballot is taken up. There are upwards of 249 names on the Jersey ballot this year in some of the cities, and it is doubtful whether on election night President Wilson will know how his own state has gone. The Jersey method is employed in some of the central and western states adding a further handicap to the difference in time, but New York and a majority of the Eastern states put the presidential electors on a separate ballot to facilitate the count.

If the foregoing has not helped you visualize the process by which the greatest news-gathering organization tries to satiate your election curiosity and furnish masses of figures to back up its announcement of the victory, picture to yourself this one fact: On election night the facilities for wire communication over practically the entire country are for the moment devoted almost exclusively to the collection and distribution of returns. The mileage of those wires you will find run up into the millions. The Associated Press leased wire system itself, is almost doubled on election night, and the telegraph companies in their own way are cooperating directly or indirectly in the great effort to bring the figures to a head.

Consider also the human factors—thousands of operators at the key and telephone transmitters, newspaper reporters and editors at work on local situations, while the army of trained Associated Press men are assembling all their matter, and you arrive at something like a general glimpse of the efforts that will be made on election night to supply the missing name in the first sentence of this article.

Surpassing tho it will public interest in the great war, or in the multitudinous events that the world daily contributes to the excitement of the breakfast table, the news of a presidential election will by no means attract all of the argus-eyed of an organization whose field is the world. So elastic is the system of this clearing-house for news, that its correspondent in Peking may come in at the height of excitement over the election with a new revolution in Panama, with a disastrous slide in Culebra Cut, its bureau in Petrograd with a stirring speech in the Duma, or its men at the front with a great victory. The usual designated men are on deck to handle any emergency, in the election or out of it.

MOTHERS AND WIVES.

Of this country—those who after months and even years of suffering, have been restored to health and strength by that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E.
